Urban History News - December 2021 edition

New Year, New Leadership 2022: On January 1, the UHA will welcome a new president, president-elect, and seven new board members. Click here to read about the newest additions to our leadership team.

Big news from the UHA blog: "We are introducing 'Disciplining the Nation,' a series that we hope will be a teaching aid and documentary history illuminating some of the most influential trends, turning points, and ideas in the history of racial state violence, criminalization, policing, and incarceration, one primary source document at a time." To read more about this new series, click here.

UHA bibliographies: Our fall 2021 bibliographies were published last month. Click here for German articles and books, here for French books and journals, here for Canadian articles and books, here for U.S. books, and here for U.S. articles. If you are interested in contributing a bi-annual bibliography for a subject area we don't yet cover, or if you want to let us know about an article or book we missed in our fall 2021 bibliographies, please email us at info@urbanhistory.org.

Urban History Month-- the UHA's month-long series of events organized and hosted by urban historians interested in exploring topics of relevance to urban history-- wrapped up at the end of October. Some of the events were recorded and posted to our YouTube channel. Click here to visit our channel.

News from UHA members: Are you a UHA member with professional news to share? Send it to us at info@urbanhistory.org for inclusion in our special "News from UHA Members" section of the monthly e-newsletter. This feature, which we ran multiple times earlier this year, will resume soon.

Open calls

The Society for American City and Regional Planning History released the call for papers for its 19th National Conference on Planning History, which is scheduled to take place both online and in person in Harlem, NYC in October 2022. For more information and for the full CFP, please visit sacrph.org/conference-2022. CFP submissions deadline: February 15, 2022.

Mark your calendars

The Global Urban History Project is hosting four "Dream Conversations" over the next year. These conversations will focus on four expansive, field-challenging topics: "Theory, For, Of, and By Urban Historians," "Cities, Empires, and their (Dis)contents," "Cities and Inequalities," and "Cities and the Anthropocene." For more information about this series, click here.

The LA History and Metro Studies Group announced its 2021-2022 line up. Click here for the schedule and to register.
